

VoICES for Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention Strategies

The State Advisory Committee on Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention (SACJJDP) is holding listening sessions to hear directly from the public, and especially youth, about its current planning work.

The SACJJDP wants your help as it prepares to develop its three-year state plan strategies for delinquency prevention and juvenile justice improvement. This plan is a roadmap for policies that will direct spending under a federal grant program called Title II. To get there we must understand what communities across California believe are the most important and effective interventions to help our at-risk young people succeed.

Title II funds can be used for efforts such as:

- Reducing racial and ethnic disparities
- Community youth services:
 - such as mentoring, mental health treatment, substance use disorder services, gender-specific services, and after school programs for at-risk youth.

If you are unable to attend please share your input using the Board of State and Community Correction's (BSCC) dedicated email box: SACJJDP@bscc.ca.gov.

The BSCC will be accepting public input through September 2017.
