

Racial and Ethnic Disparity Subcommittee Membership

Rachel Rios, Chair, of Sacramento was appointed to the SACJJDP on November 9, 2016. Ms. Rios has been Executive Director at La Familia Counseling Center Inc. since 2012. She served in several positions at the California Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation from 1984 to 2012, including Chief Deputy Secretary of the Division of Juvenile Justice, Director of Juvenile Parole Operations, Case Services Administrator, Youth Authority Administrator, Assistant Superintendent at the Northern Youth Correctional Reception Center and Clinic, Supervising Parole Agent and Juvenile Parole Agent. Ms. Rios was a Case Manager at Diogenes Youth Services Inc. from 1981 to 1984 and at Consejos Inc. from 1979 to 1981.

Kathy Back, of Ventura, received her Juris Doctor from the University of California Los Angeles School of Law and was the winner of the 2008 Ben E. Nordman Public Services Award, which recognizes outstanding community contributions by a Ventura County lawyer through charitable and public services activities. Judge Back was a prior coordinator for the Judicial Detention Alternative Initiative in Ventura County and is a consultant for local juvenile justice issues in California.

The Honorable Stacy Boulware Eurie is a Sacramento Superior Court judge presiding over Sacramento County's Juvenile Court. Judge Eurie worked as an associate with Rothschild, Wishek & Sands from 1996 to 2000, then served as supervising deputy attorney general for the California Attorney General's Office until 2007, when she was appointed to the Sacramento County bench by Governor Arnold Schwarzenegger.

Pamala Gilyard, of Elk Grove, has served in the Sacramento County Probation Department since 1990. She began her tenure as a probation assistant and has since been promoted through the ranks to her current position of supervising probation officer for Juvenile Court Services. Ms. Gilyard was awarded Probation Officer of the Year for her work on the Gang Violence Suppression Unit and is a member of the Juvenile Drug Court Committee and the Sacramento County Probation Department Performance Evaluation Committee.

Sandy Keaton, of San Diego, is a Senior Research Analyst in the San Diego Association of Governments (SANDAG) Criminal Justice Research Division. Ms. Keaton holds a Master of Arts degree in Applied Sociology. Her research areas include gangs, juvenile justice issues, public safety, public health and substance abuse. She has worked in both the public and non-profit sectors.

Tracy Kenny, of Sacramento, graduated from the University of California, Berkeley with her undergraduate degree then graduated from UC Berkeley Boalt Hall School of Law for her Juris Doctor. Ms. Kenny currently is a Legislative Advocate for the Office of Government Affairs and serves on the Family and Juvenile Law Advisory Committee. She is also a member of the California Fostering Connections organization for the John Burton Foundation.

Raquel Mariscal, of Santa Cruz, is a Senior Consultant for the Annie E. Casey foundation; comanaging the Juvenile Detention Alternative's Initiative (JDAI), perhaps the nation's most ambitious effort to date to demonstrate that jurisdictions can safely reduce reliance on secure juvenile detention. Ms. Mariscal began her formal work in JDAI as the Senior Associate for Juvenile Justice Reform with the Annie E. Casey Foundation. She is a member of the California Bar and previously worked as the Executive Director of the Criminal Justice Council of Santa Cruz County, California. Her career includes: administrative analyst for Santa Cruz County fourth district supervisor, providing criminal/juvenile defense services in private practice and ten years working as an attorney in the Public Defender's office of Santa Cruz County.

Dr. Monique W. Morris is an author and social justice scholar with more than 20 years of professional and volunteer experience in the areas of education, civil rights, juvenile and social justice. Dr. Morris is the author of the book, Black Stats: African Americans by the Numbers in the Twenty-First Century (The New Press, 2014), the novel, Too Beautiful for Words (MWM Books, 2012), and co-writer of Poster Child: The Kemba Smith Story with Kemba Smith (IBJ Book Publishers, 2011). She has written dozens of articles, book chapters, and other publications on social justice issues and lectured widely on research, policies, and practices associated with improving juvenile justice, educational, and socioeconomic conditions for Black girls, women, and their families. Dr. Morris has also worked in partnership with and served as a consultant for state and county agencies, national academic and research institutions, and communities throughout the nation.

Laura Ridolfi, of Berkeley, is the Law and Policy Analyst for the W. Haywood Burns Institute. Ms. Ridolfi provides technical assistance to Burns Institute sites in analyzing whether and to what extent policies and practices contribute to disparities in juvenile justice systems. She also assists in developing local strategies to reduce disparities. Prior to the Burns Institute, Laura worked for several juvenile and criminal justice organizations and was a Fulbright Fellow in Kenya, where she conducted original research on the juvenile justice system. Laura is a graduate of the University of California Berkeley School of Law. There, she coordinated the Boalt Hall Chapter of the National Lawyers Guild and the Youth and Education Law Society, where she created and implemented a street law program for youth in San Francisco and Alameda County juvenile detention facilities. She also clerked for East Bay Community Law, representing youth and adult ex-offenders in sealing or expunging their criminal records, and the San Francisco Public Defender, Juvenile Division.