*San Joaquin County Behavioral Human Services

- $6 million award
- 85% pass through to CBOs

Services provided in San Joaquin County:

- Mental Health Services
- Substance Use Disorder Treatment
- Housing Related Services
- Other Community Based Services

Program Summary: Homeward Bound is a comprehensive initiative to restore non-serious, nonviolent offenders back into the community and reduce recidivism. The initiative will address critical system gaps that contribute to: a revolving door, whereby individuals released from jail are soon re-arrested for similar offenses; and hopelessness, whereby those seeking support are "not eligible" for services intended for higher-acuity/risk populations. Specifically, Homeward Bound will create a Behavioral Health Assessment, Respite and Treatment Center offering MAT (medication assisted treatment), medically-monitored withdrawal management services, and primary health care services – along with case management and housing support services for individuals enrolled in program activities. BHS anticipates that as many as 1,000 individuals will be served annually through the WPC (Whole Person Care) homeless outreach and engagement components; coordination with law enforcement to deflect public inebriates away from the jail and into program services; and partnership agreements with local CBOs to help direct clients to assessments and evidence-based treatment services.

Project Director: Billy Olphin (bolpin@sjcbhs.org)

*Solano County Health and Social Services

- $6 million award
- 77% pass through to CBOs

Services provided in Solano County:

- Mental Health Services
- Substance Use Disorder Treatment
- Diversion Programs
- Housing Related Services
- Other Community Based Services

Program Summary: This project is intended to deepen the capacity to provide residential drug treatment and the many services necessary throughout the continuum of recovery in order to sustain treatment achievements. A lack of residential treatment beds in Solano County makes it difficult for someone engaged in treatment to also transition seamlessly to their community, support system, or even a job opportunity. Creating in-County resources will improve the ability for our residents to sustain the gains they make when they are in residential treatment. For others who do not need or will not accept residential treatment, it is critical that they are in a safe and supportive living environment while engaged in outpatient services; for this reason, the project also emphasizes transitional housing and sober living environments. This continuum of service and housing will be supported by a robust case management program that will assist the clients transitioning through the service continuum and help to address barriers toward their success. In addition, an attorney will be dedicated to the program to assist with legal advocacy.

Project Director: Andy Williamson (amwilliamson@solanocounty.com)

Specifically, the proposed project will apply the principles of restorative justice and trauma-informed care to provide wraparound services to individuals who are eligible for a diversion program, but are unlikely to succeed without intensive supports due to their history of mental health issues and/or substance use disorders. In an effort to address the gaps in its current criminal justice continuum, HHSA's Steps to Success project will use the following five-step process to provide participants with a range of diversion as well as mental health, substance use disorder, and supportive service assistance: Step 1-Outreach and Assessment; Step 2-Diversion Program; Step 3-Intensive Case Management and Treatment; Step 4-Civil Legal Services; and Step 5-Permanent Housing Assistance
