These commodities, technology, or software were exported from the United States in accordance with the Export Administration Regulations. Diversion contrary to U.S. law is prohibited. These products are subject to U.S. law even after they are exported from the U.S. Any party handling these goods (including non-U.S. individuals and entities) is subject to U.S. law and may not re-export or otherwise transfer these items to prohibited countries, individuals, companies, governments, or other entities. Violators may be subject to penalties including fines and the denial of permissions to export and re-export U.S. origin products. The export control laws and regulations of other countries may apply in addition to those of the United States.

These goods may not be exported, in their entirety or in part, for use in connection with the development, production, handling, operation, maintenance, storage, detection, identification or dissemination of chemical, biological or nuclear weapons, or other nuclear explosive devices, or the development, production, maintenance or storage of missiles capable of delivering such weapons.

Certain Sophos products may not be exported for use by government end-users in specific countries and/or for use for military purposes. For more information regarding the export of Sophos products, please see: <http://www.sophos.com/en-us/legal/export.aspx> or contact your Sophos representative.

If these goods are delivered to a country within the European Union, please note that if they are to be re-exported out of the European Union the exporter must acquire the relevant export licenses, in accordance with article 10 of the EC Directive 428/2009.

Your installation and use of the products and/or services listed in this Schedule is subject to the terms and conditions of the applicable end user agreement at: <http://www.sophos.com/en-us/legal.aspx>
