

COORDINATION OF PLANNING EFFORTS

Welfare and Institutions Code Section 1961(a)(5) requires each county to provide a description of how the programs, placements, services or strategies in its Juvenile Justice Development Plan coordinate with programs identified in the county's Juvenile Justice Crime Prevention Act (JJCPA) - Comprehensive Multi - Agency Plan.

1. Is your Juvenile Justice Coordinating Council aware of your planned YOBG expenditures? No Yes
2. Were there specific discussions related to coordination between JJCPA and YOBG? Yes No
3. Describe the nature of the coordination between JJCPA and YOBG. If none, explain why.

In keeping with the use of the Violence Reduction Program Model, Santa Clara County Probation Department's Juvenile Justice Development Plan for YOBG uses the Community Safety Strategy of Intensive Supervision to coordinate with JJCPA programs by utilizing similar strategies for supervising youthful offenders. The Reentry Program under the JJCPA plan and YOBG's Intensive Supervision Unit both assist in the successful maintenance of youth back into the community through close supervision and offering rehabilitative services. The Intensive Supervision at schools and JJCPA's early intervention program are both community-based and strategically work to prevent low level offenders from re-offending. The program assists by educating parents and connecting youth with services in the community. The Deputy Probation Officers in these programs make contacts with schools and community based organizations and serve as liaisons between these organizations and the Probation Department, thus serving to further develop the Violence Reduction Program Model.

4. Is there any coordination between your Juvenile Justice Coordinating Council and your Community Corrections Partnership? No Yes
5. If you answered yes, to #4, please provide a brief description of the coordination.
