AND INTERVENTION GRANT PROJECTS OCTOBER 1, 2015 TO SEPTEMBER 30, 2019

Title II Delinquency Prevention and Intervention Grant Project Summaries

County: Alameda

Implementing Agency: Community Works West

Annual Grant Amount: $300,000

Program Priority Areas: Diversion / Delinquency Prevention

Community Works West will expand their current Restorative Community Conferencing (RCC) program, a restorative justice program that offers a second chance to Alameda County youth charged with a felony-level crime. Before cases go to court, the RCC conference coordinators work with victims, caregivers, law enforcement, prosecutors, and concerned community members to develop a plan for charged youth to "do right" by victims, their families, the community, and themselves. The approach builds self-esteem and helps youth develop a sense of empathy for their victim. Youth are supervised until they have completed all activities in their plan, at which time the case is closed; the original charges are never filed. The RCC program has demonstrated better outcomes than court processes, incarceration, and/or probation as youth who participated in RCC showed lower reoffending rates when compared to adjudicated youth.

Program Priority Areas: Delinquency Prevention

The purpose of the Intensive Mentoring, Parent Advocacy and Comprehensive Trauma-informed (IMPACT) services program is to reduce juvenile offending by offering an intensive clientcentered, trauma-informed treatment program to youth at risk of arrest as a result of behavior problems at school, home and/or in the community, and youth who have been arrested for the first time for most offenses. IMPACT will provide long-term (6-12 months average) treatment for the referred youth and their families to effectively address the underlying causes of the youth's misbehavior. Youth will work with a Therapist and Case Manager and will participate in an individualized treatment plan comprised of psycho-educational groups, treatment groups, gender-specific groups, financial literacy/employment readiness, and individual/general counseling, as well as community-oriented activities aimed at restitution. Parents will participate in family therapy, specialized parenting instruction, and culturally-specific support groups. RED will be addressed by engaging appropriate youth from minority groups disproportionately represented in San Diego's juvenile justice system.

The services that accompany these treatments will help youth and their families overcome challenges that exacerbate risk-taking behaviors and increase the likelihood of subsequent rearrest. The project will also address racial and ethnic disparities in the juvenile justice system, particularly the overrepresentation of Latino youth, as the two mental health models were developed specifically for Latino families. The goals of the project are to reduce juvenile delinquency, improve family engagement and strengthen family supports, improve the juvenile justice system's efficacy, reduce racial and ethnic disparities, and improve outcomes for system-involved youth.
